HELPING PEOPLE TO UNDERSTAND

At Hope Channel, we are committed to helping people understand the Bible so they can find freedom, healing, and hope in Jesus. Recently, I received an email from one of our viewers here in the US who is seeking a clearer understanding of God's Word. Her testimony touched my heart, I invite you to read on.

I was raised Catholic. In fact, with the exception of my sister and her family, all of my family members are devout Catholics. Growing up, we never had a Bible. I knew there was a God, but I didn't know about Him or His infinite love towards me. I believed He was watching and waiting to punish me for any sin I committed. With that view of God, I lived in a world of constant fear of Him.

It wasn't until I was an adult that a friend gave me The Living Bible while I was in the hospital recovering from a surgery. I started reading the Bible and was immediately drawn to it, even though my understanding of the Scriptures was very limited.

I came to find out about Hope Sabbath School through a woman I met at a local grocery store. While looking for something healthy to snack on, I bumped into a lady who was looking for the same thing. We introduced ourselves and before departing from the store, we decided to have lunch together.

We enjoyed our time together so much that I invited her to my home so that we could continue talking. As I got to know her more, I learned that she was widowed and living alone. It didn't take long for us to become good friends. She didn't have a television, so when she visited me she would ask if I would put Hope Channel on the television. That is how I discovered Hope Sabbath School!

My friend has since passed away, but I am still so grateful for her friendship. I know God providentially placed her in my life for a reason. I am amazed at God's amazing love and His faithfulness to His promises. God is still healing me from damaged emotions I experienced during my childhood, but praise the Lord I am a long, long way from where I used to be.

I continue to search for God's truth, which is what led me by the Holy Spirit to study and discover the truth about the Sabbath, which I previously knew nothing about. I am now learning how to observe it. I've also opened my home for a Bible study. We pray together, worship the Lord, and read from the Bible. Right now, there are only two in our group, but God has led several others to attend in the past. I do not have teaching skills and I am timid to speak publicly, but I use Hope Sabbath School materials to learn and equip myself to lead out in my Bible study.

UNDERSTAND THE BIBLE

Across North America and around the world, viewers like Berta are searching for freedom, healing, and hope. They are under the conviction of the Holy Spirit the Bible can help them on their journey. It is our privilege to help them understand the precious truths of the Word of God and introduce them to a God who loves them with an immeasurable and unending love.

I'm so thankful today for the promise of the LORD recorded in Isaiah 55:10-11: "For as the rain comes down, and the snow from heaven, and do not return there, but water the earth, and make it bring forth and bud, that it may give seed to the sower and bread to the eater, so shall My word be that goes forth from My mouth; it shall not return to Me void, but it shall accomplish what I please, and it shall prosper in the thing for which I sent it."

What a privilege is ours to share the life-changing Word of God with those whose hearts are open to Bible truth. We will surely see God work in miraculous ways. Thank you for your support and prayers for Hope Channel's global evangelistic media ministry as we share God's Good News of a better life for today and for eternity, helping people to understand the Bible so they can find freedom, healing, and hope in Jesus.

With thanks and prayers,

We love hearing how the ministry of Hope Channel is impacting the lives of our viewers. Here's a few of the latest comments you've shared with us. We encourage you to send us your comments and feedback to: info@hopetv.org

I'm really grateful for Hope Sabbath School. It's helping me comprehend more about Bible principles, which I never understood. May the peace of the Lord be with you all.

-SALIPAKO, Algeria

The information on Go Healthy for Good is so valuable. I absolutely love Dr. Nerida's shows!

The skits she does with her husband are absolutely adorable. I wish I could have transcripts from the show to share with my doctor. I'm trying to eat healthier now because of her. I've learned so many things that I thought I knew, but now I truly understand.

-ELLEN, Long Island, New York, USA

Hope Channel is a lifeline to many, leading to a better, changed life. A life with Jesus. It gives hope, as the name suggests.

-BEULAH, Loma Linda, California, USA

Your channel inspires me so much! Thank God for you.

Bible HelpDesk

Does the Bible have any practical wisdom for your life today? Are you wondering what certain Bible verses or passages really mean? Whatever your Bible question is, Bible HelpDesk is a program that invites you to call or write-in and seek answers based on the authority of God's word. Hosted by Kenia Reyes, Ruben Covarrubias and Andre Hastick, each episode will feature a rotating panel of theologians, pastors, and other Bible experts. Bible HelpDesk premieres on August 21, 2019 and will air LIVE every Wednesday at 6:00 pm (ET) on Hope Channel!

The Verse

The Verse was born from the belief that over time, shared stories build intimacy and everyone's story has value. The Bible is filled with stories and each story draws various perspectives from its readers. With this in mind, The Verse set out to document young adult's perspectives of Bible verses and deliver it in a restructured format. Each episode of The Verse features three storytellers sharing their thoughts on a Bible verse, drawn from everyday themes such as fear, relationships, and love. Coming this fall!

The Crow's Nest

The Crow's Nest is a half-hour television program for teens (13-19) from all walks of life, cultures, and backgrounds. This program offers a place where teens can informally discuss, dialogue, and ad-lib skits about real-life situations impacting their lives. Topics that will be covered will range from drug addiction, alcohol abuse, depression, suicide, smart-phone addiction, as well as physical and sexual abuse. Stay tuned to find out when this new program will be premiering!

EXPONENTIAL REACH

WITH THE
HOPE CHANNEL APP

If you were to ask yourself how many apps you have downloaded onto your smartphone, how many would you estimate you have? Research has revealed that the average person has nearly 90 apps downloaded on their smartphone and uses approximately 30 of them every month. With the two leading app marketplace competitors offering a collective 3.9 million apps for download, one could quickly recognize the need for a cutting-edge Hope Channel app to be amongst the ranks and easily accessible to every nation, kindred, tongue, and people.

This is where the crossroads of being mission-minded and utilizing the power of technology meet to seize the opportunity to exponentially expand Hope Channel's reach with Bible-based programs. Navigating this journey was Justin Woods, Hope Channel International's Manager of Web Services. In this role, Justin oversees Hope Channel's online presence, including the website, apps, and online video.

Although Hope Channel had a small but significant variety of apps available in the past, Justin noticed room for improvement in the user experience and saw an opportunity to make a new app available on a variety of platforms. This idea would go beyond providing a solution for North America and would extend to the growing global network of Hope Channel affiliates. He knew the idea would be a substantial undertaking that would require careful thought and planning from the visual design to the geolocation capability.

"The apps we use every day have become so engrained in our lives that it can be easy to forget how much time, effort, and resources go into making them. Creating custom apps for multiple platforms is complex and expensive, so naturally a non-profit ministry like us needed to take a careful, considered approach before jumping in. Once we decided to do it, however, it was full steam ahead," Justin shared.

Like any big idea worth pursuing, the journey took time and started with casting a vision of what could be accomplished with launching a brand new app. As others caught the vision, initial talks began with a few well-respected companies known in the app development world. After narrowing down the list, Hope Channel made the decision to move forward with Brightcove as the app development partner. Brightcove is an industry leader in the world of online video known for their technical innovation. They have worked with customers ranging from BBC Worldwide, PBS, Foxtel, Sony and now include Hope Channel on their list.

From project approval to a finished product, this undertaking took approximately one year to complete. “The logistics of creating a custom app across half a dozen different device platforms that is able to support more than 50 global channels and almost 20 languages boggles the mind,” shared Justin. “I am grateful for the support of Hope Channel’s leadership team, without it this project never could have happened.”

To date, the Hope Channel app has been downloaded more than 300,000 times and the rate of new installs has more than tripled since the previous version. When it comes to mobile activity of weekly app users, the numbers have more than doubled and are expected to continue increasing with an ongoing promotional campaign.

based on your language and where you are in the world. Or how the screens for each program have the same look and feel on the Hope Channel app as well as the Hope Channel website,” expressed Justin.

Another significant feature of the Hope Channel app is the option of off-line playback, offering users the ability to download episodes of programs directly to their device. This feature gives those around the world who experience limited or intermittent Internet access the opportunity to download Hope Channel content when they have an Internet connection and view it at a later time when they are out of Internet range.

“I had a couple of big dreams for the new Hope Channel app. One of those dreams

TO DATE, THE HOPE CHANNEL APP HAS BEEN DOWNLOADED MORE THAN 300,000 TIMES AND THE RATE OF NEW INSTALLS HAS MORE THAN TRIPLED SINCE THE PREVIOUS VERSION.

If you were to ask Justin what one of his favorite features of the Hope Channel app is, his answer would reveal his appreciation for the small details that add up.

“It’s the little things! Things that most people might never notice. For example, how the app automatically selects the most appropriate Hope Channel for you was that all of our global Hope Channel affiliates would be able to put their content on it, expanding the reach of their ministry. Another dream was that the user experience would be the best of any religious video app. And the third dream was that we could support all the major platforms that apps can live on with the same beautiful and consistent experience,” shared Justin.

Justin Woods, Manager of Web Services for Hope Channel International talking about the Hope Channel app during a keynote presentation at Brightcove's annual PLAY conference.

The new app is available on all the major platforms including the Apple Store, Google Play, Roku, Apple TV, and Amazon Fire.

When asked what he would like the Hope Channel audience to know about the app, Justin shared, "Ultimately, we want to help Hope Channel viewers around the world connect more deeply with God's Word, and the transforming power that comes with truly knowing Jesus.

One of the most important things our audience can do to support the global mission of this app is to install it on all of their devices and leave us a rating on an app platform, such as the Apple Store or Google Play."

Downloads and reviews are a vital part of helping Hope Channel become more visible within the app marketplace. If you would like to help the Hope Channel app become the go-to Christian video app, simply open the camera application on your smartphone and scan this code with your device.

I still remember the very first time I told my testimony in 2007. I had been sober from a life of drugs and alcohol for a very short time. I think back to those very first moments in front of my wonderful church family at Spokane Central Church and couldn't help but think, "This is how it's supposed to be."

I knew then, Christ had saved me for a purpose, and that purpose was to tell what He had done through the power of prayer, and to bring His hope to others.

Since that time over a decade ago, the Lord has healed me in so many ways, and continues to move mightily in my life. There aren't enough pages in a book to tell of the wonderful miracles performed in my life, but here are a few. Christ has healed relationships, shown me a kind of friendship I never knew existed, given me a husband and son, and brought us through some very difficult circumstances. We are so very grateful.

Since becoming a part of the Hope Channel family about five years ago I've seen the strong character and decency of the people here, and how dedicated this TV family is to the Christian mission. I was so pleased to see the same love and kindness on and off camera. The first time I came to Hope Channel, over five years ago, I was a phone volunteer; I came to pray with others. Over the next six months I became a part of the wonderful ministry of Let's Pray. Ours is a prayer program where we pray for live callers, catch up with and pray for our social media community, and talk to guests about the power of prayer. It truly is, "The Place Where You Don't Have to Pray Alone." My co-host, Mario A. Broussard II, and I desire to continue to build community and facilitate a prayer time with them that points us all to Jesus. We love our Jesus so much; He is the only way! What an amazing job we have. Listening to the openness and need of this community is indescribable. At the end of the program we often remark at the gravity of the work that Jesus does through Hope Channel, and its programs such as Let's Pray. We hear about cancer diagnoses, children in prison, loved ones with no home to go to, and praise after praise to our Father for answered prayers. It's amazing! Whether it's on camera or praying as a team before and after our program, there's just nothing like it anywhere.

It's a true joy getting the chance to meet those we've prayed for! When we shake a hand or give a hug and see the faces of this global praying community, it all clicks. It all makes sense. We are put here for a purpose. My life, my redemption, the struggles we ALL share and pray for comes together in those moments. Jesus, Jesus, Jesus. We will have trouble the Bible says. Come to me Jesus says. Every Wednesday at 8pm EST that's exactly what we do! So, we hope folks will join us and let us sit with them in their pajamas or on their way home from work. Wherever they are, we want our Hope Channel family to know we're here, and we're ready to pray.

Season, her husband Chris and their son Gideon love spending quality family time together. They enjoy spending time in nature exploring the great outdoors, exercise and time at the pool.

MISSION in ACTION

“Three things have happened in my life since I started watching Hope Channel,” writes Bruce, a viewer from Rwanda. “First, I feel more connected to the Bible. Second, I feel more connected to Christ. Third, my zeal to share the gospel has grown.”

Bruce’s experience is possible because of donors like you. The generous, mission-minded support from our viewers is what allowed Bruce, and thousands of people around the world, to learn about the Bible, to fall in love with Christ, and to share in the work of spreading the Gospel.

From the Bible we learn of God’s love for humanity and His great plan of salvation. Thanks to you, Hope Channel is able to share Bible-based programming that transforms lives all around the world.

Abigail from the United States of America shares, “Hope Channel helps me grow spiritually! I have a renewed interest and desire to know the Word better, more fully and deeply.”

As each viewer comes to a better knowledge of Scripture, the desire to better know our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ strengthens.

Regardless of the topic, the goal of every Hope Channel program is to lead people to Christ. Through Bible study, prayer, physical and mental health, discussions on relationships, and more, viewers are able to encounter a living Jesus who desires to interact and love them as they are.

By donating to Hope Channel, especially as a Sustaining Partner, you provide much-needed funds that enable us to continue producing life-changing programs. You are making an eternal impact on our viewers!

Your gifts helped bring Sandra, a viewer from the United States of America, back to Christ.

“I was struggling with my faith, especially in how to keep the Sabbath. The Holy Spirit led me to discover Hope Channel and the programming has helped me in my journey back to Jesus. Praise God!”

Australian viewers Gerry and Dineke also wrote to us and shared how Hope Channel has impacted their spiritual walk:

"We will soon be members of the local Seventh-day Adventist church after years of searching the Bible. Thanks to Hope Channel, we've come to realize the Gospel truth is being presented from Genesis to Revelation, and that Jesus is at the center of it all."

With Jesus at the center of our mission, and because of your partnership, Hope Channel has seen great miracles take place all around the world.

Thanks to your support, Hope Channel programming is available on several platforms across the globe. With our new digital suite of program-streaming apps, more people than ever have the opportunity to learn about the Gospel.

Robin, a nurse in the United States of America, has benefitted from the Hope Channel app:

"I deal with a lot of negativity and stress at work. Finding the Hope Channel app refreshed and encouraged me. Now I am able to carry into my work the peace of God's presence and love."

Your passion to share the Gospel is also reaching people in every corner of the globe. In the jungles of Guyana, missionaries like Pearl use Hope Channel to teach others about Christ:

"We have no television or radio, but I am able to use my smartphone with a data plan. The plan is expensive, but it allows me and the small church I maintain to listen to Hope Channel and be encouraged."

You are changing lives! Your gift today will help Hope Channel continue providing "spiritual food to every person in the world," as our viewer Avery in the Philippines said.

Thank you for your continued support to help people better connect to the Bible, fall in love with Jesus, and join the media mission of sharing the Gospel with everyone!

CORPORATE NAME CHANGE

Introducing:
Hope Channel International, Inc.

In May of this year, we formally changed our corporate name from “Hope Channel, Inc.” to “Hope Channel International, Inc.” The name change that now includes “international” was a decision voted and approved during the 2018 General Conference Annual Council. The purpose for the change is to capture and communicate the global evangelistic ministry and network coordination role performed by the Hope Channel entity based out of Silver Spring, Maryland.

“Our name change to Hope Channel International, Inc. represents the global scope of our ministry and unique function as the coordinating office for the Hope Channel affiliates around the world. As of today, the Hope Channel network has 54 affiliates broadcasting in 60 languages, and by God’s blessing, we continue to grow,” shared Hope Channel International President, Derek Morris. “While our name is changing, the organizational structure of the Hope Channel network is not.”

As part of the network coordinating role performed by Hope Channel International, Inc., the US-based office is responsible for various functions, including but not limited to: licensing affiliate channels that join the Hope Channel network, maintaining logo and branding consistency throughout the network, hosting annual leadership conferences to address network matters, and providing technical support resources for studio development.

In addition to being the coordinating entity of the global television network of the Seventh-day Adventist Church, Hope Channel International, Inc. (HCI) is also responsible for the operation of the North American channels, including the production and acquisition of programs for Hope Channel’s North American audience.

“The change to our corporate name now reflects Hope Channel in North America’s distinctive role when it comes to our operational relationship with our affiliate channels. Although HCI operates in North America and produces and broadcasts programming for our North American audience, we also serve as a coordinating office for the international network of affiliate channels we are part of,” shared Hope Channel International’s Director of Marketing, Christina Zaiback-Khabbaz. “Our corporate name change will not impact our viewers or sustaining partners. As a matter of fact, our logo will not be changing, however, we still believe it’s important they are aware of the change to our corporate name.”

HOLY LANDS STUDY TOUR

An incredibly loud siren filled the air as the members of the 2019 Hope Channel Holy Lands Study Tour were eating dinner one Tuesday night at their hotel in Tel Aviv. No one seemed worried or fearful of the strident sound that invaded their ears and shook their bones.

It was not a siren of warning, but of remembrance.

This signal was a reminder of the victims of the Holocaust; the 6 million lives lost to hatred. The group stood, as instructed, in silence for the two minutes the siren sounded. By the end, several individuals had tears in their eyes.

The silence lasted a few moments longer once the siren faded away. No one dared even breathe too loudly. Finally, someone spoke.

“Welcome to Israel.”

Hope Channel's second annual study tour took place on May 7-16, 2019 in the Holy Lands. The 43 guests quickly learned that the siren they heard on their first night was not the only signal of remembrance. All of Israel is a land of remembrance. Every site, every monument, and every street corner carries an air of significance and value.

From the lush breadbasket of the Galilee region to the ancient crowded streets of Jerusalem, everything cried out to be noticed and remembered. Most of all, the evidence of the greatest story ever told was apparent wherever one looked.

Our two guides, Oleg Kostyuk of Hope Channel's Cross Connection and local guide and pastor Sakher, led the group on a journey filled with historical significance and modern spiritual applications. Many attendees claimed this experience will forever change their reading and understanding not only of the Gospels, but of the entire Bible.

The days were packed with historical information, both of biblical importance and otherwise. But the most significant moments were those when the group had opportunity to reflect on the events that took place at the sites which they visited.

The group spent time praying and singing on the Mount of Beatitudes, overlooking the Sea of Galilee. On Sabbath, worship was held while taking a morning ride across the water on a boat like Jesus and His disciples had often done. Whenever the group visited a domed church or chapel, requests would be made for songs of worship. Among the hubbub of Jerusalem, short moments were found to pause and reflect on the importance of the various sites that were visited. Yet perhaps the most significant moment was when the group visited the Garden Tomb.

Located in Jerusalem, and believed by many to be the site of Christ's crucifixion, burial, and resurrection, the group could feel a unique atmosphere at the Garden Tomb. One of reverence and peace. Derek Morris, president of Hope Channel International, led a moving communion service that touched the heart of every group member.

This service was our siren. When first instituting this ceremony, Christ told the disciples, "Do this in remembrance of me." Taking communion was the reminder we needed of the purpose with which we had come to Israel. We had come to commune with history, gaining context and understanding of Scripture that would allow us to better share and teach about our living Savior, Jesus Christ.

"This tour has been life-changing," said one tour attendee. And many others would agree that walking where Jesus, David, Abraham, and so many other important biblical figures had trod has changed their lives forever.

An optional two-night excursion into Jordan to visit Petra, a historical and archaeological city marked as one of the seven new wonders of the ancient world, was offered at the end of Hope Channel's Holy Lands tour. Most who attended the tour opted for Petra and loved it! From the gorgeous caverns to the majestic man-made structures, the horse-drawn carriages to the camel rides, Petra was an experience that all our tour attendees will forever remember.

Extending Our Reach in the American TV Industry

Ku-Band, C-Band, megabits per second, satellite communications, these terms are frequently used amongst the staff at Hope Channel International, located in Silver Spring, MD, who are responsible for broadcasting and distributing Hope Channel's programs in the North American region. Interesting facts, but what does all of this mean? In May of this year the decision was made to transition from using Ku-Band frequency to C-Band. On the surface the significance of this decision may not be clear, so we sat down with the Director of International Development at Hope Channel International, Joe Sloan, and asked him several questions about this change and what it means for Hope Channel and its audience in the United States.

Q: For the average reader, what is C-Band?

A: C-Band is a range of satellite frequencies that is favored by the commercial television industry for satellite delivery of cable and broadcast programming to TV. One of the several benefits of using C-Band is that it performs better under adverse weather conditions, such as rain. This is one reason why it's preferred over the previous Ku-Band services we had been using.

Q: Why is this big news?

A: As a result of this change, Hope Channel will be able to significantly extend its reach into the American TV industry by taking our main feed to the largest cable entities. This decision has positioned us to be even more appealing to cable entities looking to acquire Christian programming as part of what they offer their viewers.

Q: Will this help the mission of Hope Channel?

A: Absolutely. Here at Hope Channel we believe that our Bible-based programs should be made available to as many people as possible. By switching to C-Band, our transmission signal will be made available to many homes in the United States that have not previously been able to see it. This is a significant milestone for Hope Channel both today and into the future.

Q: Will this development change anything for our viewers?

A: For those already watching Hope Channel on DirecTV, or any of the broadcast and cable systems who carry us, it will not change anything. For those who have cable or satellite TV that do not have Hope Channel available to them, Hope Channel may become available on their system at a future date. Because we are now on C-Band, we have positioned ourselves to be more appealing for cable networks to pick-up Hope Channel.

We asked Hope Channel International's President, Derek Morris, what he thought of the recent development.

"I'm excited to have our Hope Channel signal available on C-Band. We are praying for tens of thousands of families in North America who will have the potential to watch relevant Christ-centered, Bible-based programming, sharing God's good news of a better life for today and for eternity."

As a result of switching to C-Band, Fidelity Communications will begin to carry Hope Channel on their lineup starting September 2019! Fidelity provides coverage within Missouri, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Texas and Louisiana.

Viewers without Hope Channel on their local TV service are encouraged to contact us about what can be done to make Hope Channel available in their area. You can send an email to: info@hopetv.org
